

California State University, Sacramento (CSUS) and Los Rios Community Colleges are providing CARES orientations on campus

The Sacramento CARES program is designed to provide support to teachers and caregivers wishing to continue professional growth and/or education in the ECE/Child Development field. The program includes beginning students with less than 6 units in Early Childhood Education to those pursuing an advanced degree.

The target population of the Sacramento CARES program is early education staff including home-based licensed and license exempt family care home providers, family child care assistants and center-based staff working in public or private child care programs in Sacramento County.
